

SPOKE IN THE SNOW

President Given Warm Welcome, but Cold Weather.

A BIG CROWD ASSEMBLED

Despite Drizzly Condition Six Thousand People Listened to His Discussion of the Wage Earner and the Tiller of the Soil.

(By Associated Press.)

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., April 6.—President Roosevelt began the second week of his tour feeling much refreshed from yesterday's rest, and at 7:50 started on a drive over the city with Secretary Loeb, Senator Kittredge and Mayor Brundage. Despite the early hour and the drizzly weather, the streets were lined with people, who greeted the President with cheers and the waving of flags, and at 8:30 the President arrived at the big auditorium, where he addressed 4,000 children.

As the President left the auditorium he was greeted with tremendous applause. He was driven rapidly to the stand which had been erected at the corner of Ninth Street and Phillips Avenue, where a crowd of 6,000 people had assembled. The President was introduced by Senator Kittredge and spoke on "The Wage Worker and the Tiller of the Soil." During his speech snow began to fall, but the President was clad in a heavy overcoat and was well protected. He said he was glad to be again in "the banana belt," which remark created laughter.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

Fellow-citizens: There are many lesser problems which go to make up in their entirety the huge and complex problems of our modern industrial life. Each of these problems is, moreover, connected with many of the others. Few indeed are simple or stand only by themselves. The most important are those connected with the relation of the farmer, the stock grower and soil tillers, to the community at large, and those affecting the working of the employer and employee. In a country like ours it is fundamentally true that the well-being of the tiller of the soil and the wage-worker is the well-being of the State. If they are well off, we need concern ourselves but little as to how other classes stand, for they will inevitably be well off, too, and, on the other hand, there can be no real general prosperity unless based on the foundation of the prosperity of the wage-worker and the tiller of the soil.

One of the greatest and most beneficent measures passed by the last Congress, or indeed by any Congress in recent years, is the Irrigation Act, which will do for the States of the Great Plains and the Rocky Mountain region at least as much as ever has been done for the States of the humid region by river and harbor improvements.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT. The Department of Agriculture devotes its whole energy to studying the welfare of farmers and stock growers. Thus the Department has been successfully introducing a macaroni wheat from the headwaters of the Volga, which grows successfully in ten inches of rainfall, and by this means wheat-growing has been successfully extended westward into the semiarid region. Two million bushels of this wheat were grown last year; and the States of the arid region can be used for wheat as well as for food for man.

The Department of Agriculture has been helping our fruit men to establish markets abroad by studying methods of fruit preservation through refrigeration and through methods of handling and packing. There are a number of very important questions, such as that of good roads, with which the States alone can deal, and where all that the National Government should have their apparel made to order. My tailor, Schnurman, has long added to the beauty of a good form and corrects the defects of those lacking physical perfection. There's no guessing about my work. My figures on measurements and dress are well known. Summer fashions await your inspection.

can do is to co-operate with them. The same is true of the education of the American farmer. A number of the States have themselves started to help in this work and the Department of Agriculture does an immense amount which is in the proper sense of the word educational, and educational in the most practical.

It is therefore clearly true that a great advance has been made in the direction of finding ways by which the Government can best use its power to help himself—the only kind of help which a self-respecting man will accept. More and more in our great industrial centers men have come to realize that they cannot live independently of one another as in the old days when the case everywhere and as is now the case in the country districts.

Of course, fundamentally each man will yet find that the chief factor in determining his success or failure in life is the sum of his own individual qualities. He cannot afford to lose his individual initiative, his individual will-power; but he can best use that power if for certain objects he unites with his fellows. The time of demarcation between unhealthy over-competition and unhealthy lack of regulation is not always well defined, but it is equally true and necessary that it is equally true and necessary that we should not on economic grounds refuse it. Vicious factory laws, laws to forbid the employment of child labor and to safeguard the employees against the employer, are necessary, not merely in the interest of the honest and humane employer.

Very much of our effort in reference to labor matters should be by every device and expedient to try to secure a constantly better understanding between employer and employee. We are now doing such a subject we are fortunate in having before us an admirable object lesson in the work that the National Government, and action was of vast and incalculable benefit to the nation; but the ultimate effect will be even better, if capitalist, wage-worker and law-maker alike will take heart and act upon the lessons set forth in the report they have made.

Of course the National Government has but a small field in which it can do, however, and that something ought to be done. Among other things I should like to see the District of Columbia, which is completely under the control of the National Government, receive a set of model labor laws.

In the field of general legislation relating to these subjects the action of Congress is necessarily very limited. But there are certain ways in which we can act. Thus the Secretary of the Navy has recommended, with my cordial and hearty approval, the enactment of a strong employers' liability law in the navy—many of the nation. It should be extended to similar branches of the Government work. Again, sometimes such laws can be enacted as an incident to the nation's control over interstate commerce. In the case of an admirable law was passed "to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic brakes and continuous brakes and their locomotives with driving-wheel brakes." This law received my signature a couple of days before Congress adjourned. It is in an admirable kind of legislation. At the conclusion of his address the presidential party was given to the Great Northern depot and the special train left for Yankton.

DR. DILL'S FOURTH YEAR

Young Citizens of Fredericksburg Go to South Africa to Live.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., April 6.—The fourth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Dr. J. S. Dill was observed at the Baptist Church Sunday. The services consisted of a special sermon by the pastor on the text, "Gideon's Band, or the Call to Service," and a program of special music. The verses of the hymns sung on the occasion were composed by Dr. Dill. After the sermon the Lord's Supper was celebrated.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Dill, of this city, will deliver his lecture, "Lights and Shadows of Home Life," at Tappanbrook on Sunday afternoon, April 13, for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of Ephesus Church, and on Friday night, April 10th, Rev. Dr. J. W. Roseboro, president of Fredericksburg College, will deliver a lecture at Sharp's Wharf, on the Tappanbrook River.

Messrs. K. N. Goodrich and J. T. Goodrich, Jr., both prominent young business men of this city, will leave in a few days for Johannesburg, South Africa, to engage in business. They will represent several large American firms and expect to make their fortune in that far off land.

Mr. D. B. Edinger, who for the past six years has been the superintendent of the Eagle Shoe Factory, in this city, has resigned his position.

Mr. W. B. Price is building a handsome modern residence on his lot on lower Main Street.

Judge J. E. Mason and family, who spent the winter in this city, have gone to their country home, "Shelbourne," in King George county, where they will spend the spring and summer, returning here in the fall.

VEGETATION BLASTED

Everything Killed Except the Wheat—A Venerable Plant.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EAST RADFORD, VA., April 6.—All Southwest Virginia waked up this morning to find the mercury at 20 and vegetation blasted beyond hope. Everything except wheat is a total ruin. Oats that were out of the ground and grass is set back for two weeks, and the farmer is blue in heart, as well as nose.

The washout of the dam of the Radford Power Company turns out to be far more serious than was at first expected, and the city is still in darkness and will be so for some time yet.

Rev. Mr. Ward is conducting revival services at Grove Avenue Methodist Church, and great interest is being manifested.

The session of the Radford Central Presbyterian Church met Friday to transact the business of the church year and to elect delegates to the Presbytery, which meets soon at Clifton Forge. G. E. Casel was elected delegate, with I. L. Binstein as alternate.

The veneering plant has finally decided to locate in Radford, and will begin operations with 200 men at once.

In view of much contemplated building this summer, Messrs. Lee and Jacob Dudley have decided to start operations to manufacture dressed building brick on a large scale to meet the demand.

A petition was presented to the judge of the Hustings Court last week praying for an election on the liquor question, which will be considered at once, and the election ordered for the near future. "The city has always heretofore gone wet, but those who have investigated the matter now say that Radford will soon be dry."

ROANOKE PRESBYTERY

An Enterprising Merchant Connects His Store by Telephone.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PAMPLIN CITY, VA., April 6.—The Roanoke Presbytery, which is composed of a goodly number of churches and ministers, among them some very distinguished, will meet here this week, beginning to-morrow night.

Hon. W. H. Ligon, who carries on the mercantile business here and at Hickburg, six miles from here, and who is generally known as an enterprising and prosperous business man, has put a telephone line between these two places, connecting with it a line to his house, on the way. Progress at thirty, as well as enterprises, are made in the rural districts, as well as in the cities.

It is feared that the cold snap, which is yet at hand, has injured the prospect for a good yield in fruit this year.

Present rains have prevented much plowing, and very little planting of anything in gardens has been done around here.

VETERANS TO GO TO THE BAZAAR

Pickett Camp Accepts Invitation of Mrs. Royall—Official Visit of Capt. Lamb.

Pickett Camp, Confederate Veterans, held a most interesting meeting last night. A letter was received from Mrs. Page Aylett Royall, inviting the camp to be present at the Confederate Bazaar on the evening of April 15th. She asked that the camp provide a musical program and singers for the evening. The camp acted favorably on both requests. It decided to meet at 7 o'clock on Friday evening of next week at the camp hall, each veteran in his dress-parade uniform, and go to the Masonic Temple in a body. The committee to look after the desired musical feature was named, to consist of Comrades H. N. Northern, W. U. Bass, J. P. Sutherland, W. N. Foster and S. E. Hall. The camp passed a resolution giving $10 to the bazaar. Congressman John Lamb, inspector for the camps of the Third Congressional District, was present on an official visit and made an address.

Captain George D. Wise presented the camp with a complete set of records of the war, about forty volumes in all. These were received by the camp with a vote of thanks.

The suit will be brought for $2,000 by a man who fell down an area-way.

At the last meeting of the Street Committee the sentiment seemed to be that the committee had nothing to do with the telephone matter, and it is quite likely that the whole thing will be sent back to the Council.

A New Council.

A new council of the Junior Order United American Mechanics was instituted last night at Davison's Hall, corner Seventh and Broad Streets.

The meeting was called by the organizer, C. H. Peck. At a previous meeting the council named William Byrd, after the founder of Richmond. The degree was conferred by the Junior Guard team from Globe Council and the council was instituted and officers installed by Deputy State Comptroller C. E. Hopkins.

The following officers were elected and installed: Junior Past Comptroller, George B. Jones; Comptroller, W. D. Buck; Vice-Comptroller, L. L.
